Several weeks ago the pope sent an important document to cardinal von Hartmann, the archbishop of Cologne, but the latter never reached its destination, To get into communication with the cardinal the holy father had to send a high erriesiastic, who is a subject of a neutral country, to Germany. This special envoy carried important papers, but they were taken from him before the Italian military arthorities permitted him to cross the Swiss frontier on his way to

Lost Baby Prince of Austria Is Found -:n:- -:n:- -:n:- -:n:- -:n:-Russian Paper Prints His Picture

PETROGRAD, Russia, Sept. 2.—A story has reached here from Brody which concerns the lost haby prince Vladzis Gedroic, aged 2 years, the son of an Austrian nobleman, prince Cyril Gedroic, of semi-royal "mediatized" rank. The baby prince has been found again and there is much rejoicing in the house

The parent prince is an officer in the Austrian army. The Austrians had to retreat before the advancing Russian legions and the princes, his wife, fled from her home. In the confusion, the baby prince was left behind. Unaware of his rank and station a Russion baroness, Natalie Ostroff, adopted the child and took him to her home at Tiflis, in the Caucasus. Bit by bit the fruth got out and a Russian illustrated paper published the story with a photograph of the child. This paper came into the hands of the prince through a Russian prisoner. He was astounded to see the portrait of his lost baby figuring on the front page. The happy father at once made representations to Russia through Sweden and the little prince Vladzis will shortly be restored to his home and

Giant New Zealander's Gooseberries Make Bus Full of English Friends

London, Eng., Sept. 2.—Colonials now n London on leave from the front are astounded at the stiffness which is one of the characteristics of London life. They cannot understand how people live in a suburban next door to one another very often do not know each other's names, though they pass every day for years.

A glant New Zealand soldier, ignorant of these strange demestic anomalles, jumped into a Strand bus the other day. He carried in his hand an enormous buy of ripe gooseberries enermous bag of ripe gooseberries.

Looking round with a friendly smile he handed the larg to the man scated next to him, saying. 'Help yourself and pass them around.'

The Britisher, too astonished almost to speak, looked at the gooseberries, and curily replied, 'No, thank you.' Then he looked at the smiling New Zealander who was totally unabashed. Ashamed of himself, the Londoner took one gooseberry between his nearly gloved fingers, and stammered 'Thanks' awfully.' The giant soldier grinned and passed the bug around. The icy Londoners who never exchange a word it heach other, thawed. Soon the whole bug full found themselves guzzling gooseberries and talking to the New Zealander and each other, as though a large family party had hired the bug for a day out.

gum to be treated as an adult by other nations.

Influence of White Man Everywhere.

The influence of the white man is everywhere around us. What about China, India, Persia? East of Suex the white man has established his power to every country except Japan. Under these direumstances how can we expect to obtain equality? The Chinese often seek the aid of the Americans, or the English or the Germans. Japan's mission is to establish a Monroe doctrine for China at least.

By the Asiatic Monroe doctrine we do not mean to drive the white man out of Asia. We mean that the Japanese should manage the aifairs of Asia, as there is no other race in Asia which can do it at present. We must see that Asia does not have to depend upon the white man, and that she prevents him from overrunning the continent.

vents him from overrunning the continent."

May Mean Military Expansion.
The article represents a view of Japan's role in the world which is gaining much recognition and is possibly not far distant from some form of official definition. It is unnecessary to point out the difference between the Monroe doctrine of a pacific nonagressive power like the United States and a strongly armed and avowedly imperialistic nation. What is in the one case a guaranty against external aggression may amount in the other to a chain for domination, the political and military domination of an expanding imperialistic power being again a different thing from the moral domination of a pacific and self-contained democracy.

Airman Drops Wreath For Dead Father -:||:- -:||:- -:||:- -:||:-Germans Tenderly Place It On Grave

STRASSBURG, Germany, Sept. 2.—A French aviator recently threw a large tin box containing a beautiful wreath of fresh flowers upon the village of Markirch, Alsace. The box was addressed to the priest of the town and contained a note requesting that the wreath be placed on the grave of the father of the flyer, a heutenant colonel who was killed near Col. Str. Marie in August, 1914

The wish of the French airman has been faithfully carried out by the priest, with the aid of the German military authorities, who took great pains to locate the last resting place of the father of the young officer.
